

INACIO I. X. MOREIRA

University Student, Youth Leader

Inacio is a dedicated and enthusiastic youth leader with a passion for community service and social impact. Actively involved in various volunteer initiatives, he organizes educational activities to benefit the community. His strong leadership and teamwork skills are evident in his ability to coordinate projects and collaborate with diverse groups. Inacio is committed to making a positive difference while honing his interpersonal and organizational skills. He constantly seeks meaningful opportunities that contribute to societal well-being.

His volunteer work experience in youth-related activities is extensive. In 2020, Inacio and his friends founded the Peace Adventure Group, a youth organization aimed at enhancing leadership skills and promoting mutual care through charitable actions. He also served as the Coordinator of Research Assistants at Uma Amerika, collaborating with the EducationUSA TL advisor, conducting comprehensive research on prospective students and institutions interested in studying in the U.S., and fostering innovation and information exchange between the U.S. and Timor-Leste. Inacio is an active board member of Timor-Leste Youth for Peace, a member of the Sustainable Ocean Alliance of Timor-Leste, and involved in finance at EDC Corner.

Currently, Inacio is in his second year of studying accountancy at the National University of Timor-Leste, with aspirations of becoming a professional accountant.

Inacio views the Youth Sounding Board as an opportunity to develop leadership skills and critical thinking, while providing his perspective as a young Timorese on the external political relations between the European Union and Timor-Leste. He is committed to contributing as much as possible to this initiative and the projects funded by the EU in Timor-Leste.
