CULTIVATING A GREENER FUTURE, THROUGH THE HANDS OF WOMEN

With every seed she plants, a better future takes shape.

Building Access, Step by Step

When women farmers understand what global markets require, good opportunities follow.

“What we can further implement at the farmer level, especially for women farmers, is letting them know the step-by-step process required to enter the global market.”

Ifah Yulianti,
Project Officer, Cocoa Project,
Rainforest Alliance

Leaves No One Behind

Together with the EU, empowerment initiatives ensure women have stronger roles in their communities.

“A solution for the women farmers, where I offered training on side grafting and top grafting techniques and the results have been highly rewarded.”

Kristina Rampang,
Cocoa Farmer

Women Leading Sustainable Practices

From harvesting and processing to environmental protection, women manage every stage with care and precision.

"I built this drainage system (a system for treating latex wastewater) to prevent soil and environmental contamination."

Sujiyem,
Rubber Local Collector

When women farmers are empowered, they plant the seeds of possibility for generations to come. From field to family, their leadership creates pathways to a greener future.

Where Equality Takes Root

Women farmers strengthens the community as a whole. Driving positive changes rooted in fairness and sustainability.

“The work of women and men today is the same value. There is no difference.”

Nurlin Benuku,
Head of Cempaka Coffee Farmer Group
