11EFF BARBADOS 2019

Experience the drama, comedy, tragedy, and passion of the moving image together with film fans, academics, students, and the local expatriate communities at the 2019 edition of the European Film Festival (EFF). This year's festival opens with the premier of the French documentary Le Sel De la Terre (Salt of the Earth) which reveals the life and work of photographer Sebastião Salgado through the eyes of his son, Juliano. The film traces the mutations of humanity, taking the less travelled paths; and exalts the beauty of the planet.

An established event on the Barbadian culture calendar, the festival provides audiences with a unique opportunity to get a taste of Europe's contemporary creativity and a window into the intriguing world of European cinema. The annual festival is hosted by the Delegation of the European Union in Barbados in collaboration with European Union Member States.

Le Sel De la Terre / Salt of the Earth (2014)
